0.0 Homepage/Global Dashboard

- A. Toolbar. Login/out, click to update account settings. Global Admin dropdown menu.
- B. Global Navigation. Each text link leads to specific "landing page," arrows hint that there's also a drop down menu for quick selection.
- C. Breadcrumbs. Not present on initial page (shown for placement).
- D. Page Header.
- E. Timeframe (X-Axis). By default, shows the most recent 2 weeks of data.
- F Chart. Tabbed interface to show either "Participants" or "Traffic." If traffic is shown, the option to select MO, MT, or all traffic (default). In this example, only 1 week is shown (planned timeframe is 2 weeks). Also in this example, a hover state for 1 April is shown.
- G. Current Campaigns. Tied into the chart featured above, this table shows 9 most recent campaigns (mixed MSO/Campaign Types) along with "big picture" values—Participants and Traffic. The H2 header is a link to the Campaigns landing page and each campaign is linked to that particular campaign's page. Also, a shortcut to create a new campaign from the front page—presented best with an informative tooltip on the hover state.
- H. Create New Campaign "button." A text link with small icon used throughout the site as a shortcut for creating a new campaign.
- I. News. Serves as a place for information such as system maintenance, best practices, case studies, etc.

1.0.2 Campaign Overview - Filtered Results

A. Filter results breakdown. Here, we show feedback of what was filtered. If the filtered results produce an unfavorable result, this gives the user a snapshot of how they filtered (and how to adjust). In the case of a favorable filter, it gives reassurance they are looking at exactly what they initially wanted.

1.1 Compare Campaigns

Compares 2 campaigns.Shows top-level information and a graph with traffic and participants. Each campaign has a clickable header which leads to more detailed information on that particular campaign.

1.2 Campaign - Activity

This page shows the basic breakdown in a table as well as a chart for Traffic and a chart for the number of Participants.

1.2.1 Campaign - Demographics

With items such as gender and age range, we will show a pie chart to visually represent the demographic breakdown. With segments such as city, state, and zip code, we will display the Top 5 most active segments. Below these, we'll display the total amount of information collected versus the total amount of participants in the campaign along with that percentage.

For other information such as name, street address, etc, we just have the total amount of information collected versus the total amount of participants and percentage.

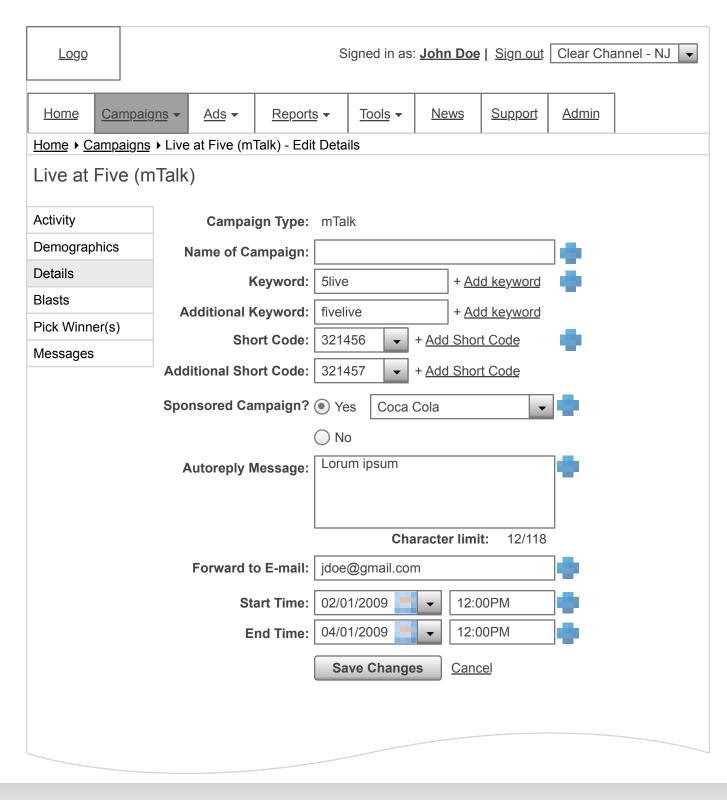

Additional Demographic information:

1.2.2 Campaign - Details

Campaign details with a "less actionable" edit link/button.

1.2.2.1 Campaign - Details (Edit/Error)

Note: This page is essentially the same as 1.1.2 Create New Campaign: Edit/Error

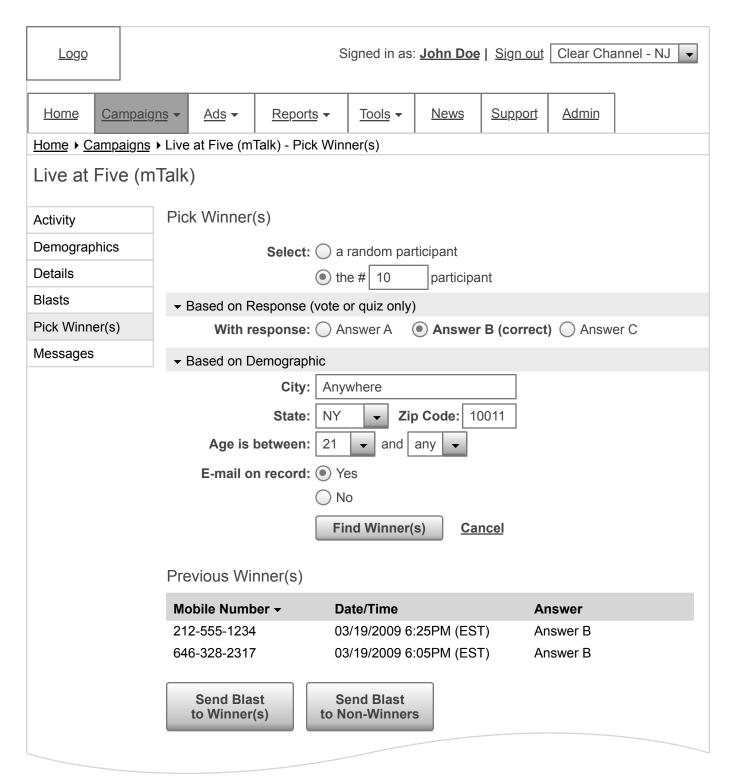

1.2.3 Campaign - Blast

Selecting whether the blast is sponsored or not determines the character limit.

Start time defaults to current time with the ability to change to a later time and/or date.

Pending Blasts are shown below the messaging functionality with the ability to sort by column and/or Edit or Delete a particular blast.

1.2.4 Campaign - Pick Winner(s)

Note: the flow of this scenario is an mTalk, but on this particular page, the options for a vote or quiz are displayed.

This tab allows an admin to search for a random participant OR find a participants based on demographic, or in the case of votes or quizes, a participant with the specified response.

Finding a participant can be divided in relevant subdivisions, possibly in a view/hide manner with a cookie to cater to the admin's needs.

Also listed at the bottom are previously selected winners with the ability to send a message to a previously selected winner.

1.3 Create New Campaign

- A. Progress Indicator. Lets the user understand where they are in the process of creating a new campaign.
- B. Select Campaign Type. The first action is to select which kind of campaign you want to create.
- C. Campaign Breakdown. Directly underneath this selector is a prominent text link to offer advice on what type of campaign to create. Clicking "Not sure which kind of campaign to create" spawns a layer breaking down the differences between campaign types

Campaign Type:	Select 🗸 mClub mTalk
	mVote
	mQuiz

mClub

Nulla felis ante, tincidunt id, laoreet vitae, sagittis vel, lacus. Nunc placerat nulla malesuada libero. Nulla in urna vel risus aliquam ultrices. Vivamus eget lectus sed velit dapibus pretium.

mTalk

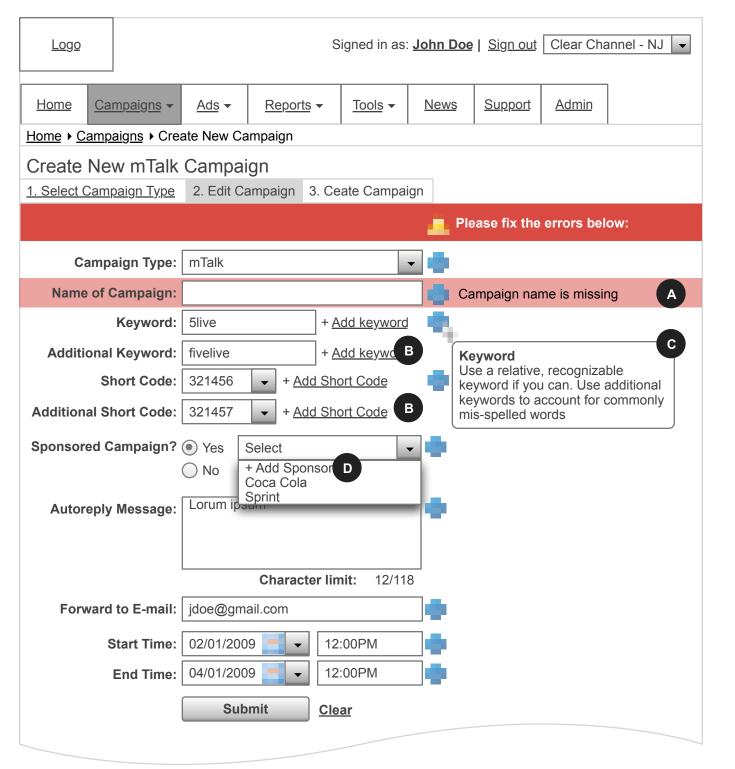

Fusce porttitor blandit neque. In nisi. Nullam luctus felis id justo. Nullam vel sem id felis porta viverra. Cras at elit. Curabitur dictum augue. Nunc diam dui, ullamcorper in, varius a, lobortis vel, turpis.

mVote

Fusce varius tortor vitae nulla. Mauris orci felis, eleifend id, tincidunt at, aliquet quis, eros. Sed at tortor. Maecenas sed nisl et erat ullamcorper ullamcorper. Nullam felis elit, volutpat et, gravida in, aliquet sit amet, odio.

1.3.1 Create New Campaign: Edit/Error

The form elements below the Campaign Type selector reflects the currently selected campaign type (in this case, mTalk). It should hold the data entered by the user in the case that they choose a different campaign type. The form elements will change according to the new campaign type, but the previously filled out fields should be maintained.

- A. Error-checking. Rather than displaying form errors after the user submits the form, they can be displayed directly to the right of the form elements.
- B. The Keyword and Short Code fields have the ability to Add and additional keyword or short code—shown as a textlink directly to the right.
- C. Form Hints. Having a small, informative icon next to key form elements would be helpful to assist in filling out the best possible choices to maximize results in a particular campaign. This could be executed by either a tooltip or overlay.
- D. Add Sponsor link. This could either be a selection in the dropdown menu or a seperate link next to the dropdown menu.

1.3.3 (1.2.2) Campaign - Details

Upon creating a new campaign, the user ends up on the particular campaign's page on the "Details" tab.

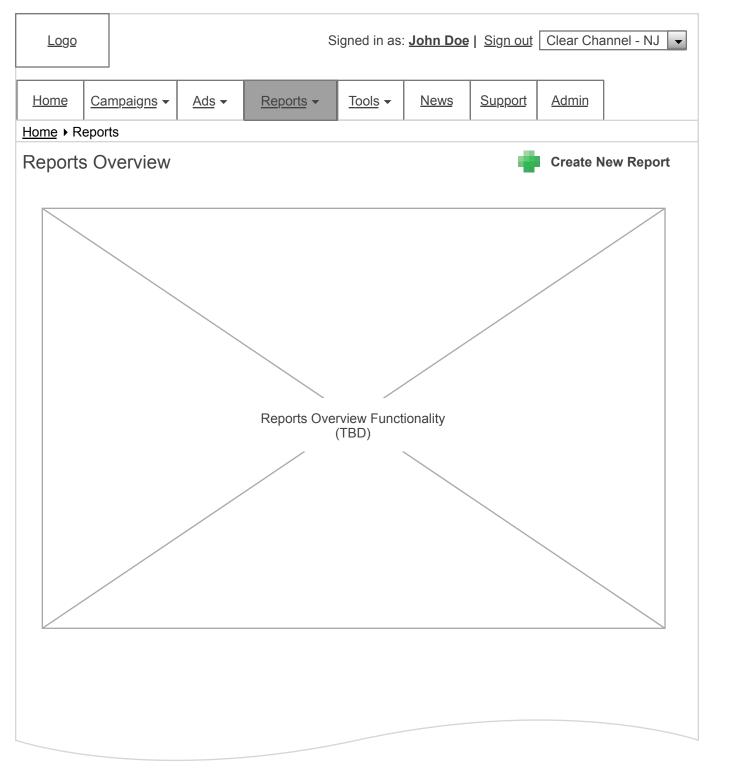

Normally, the landing page for a particular campaign would be on the "Activity" tab. Since there isn't any data yet for this new campaign, they default to the "Details" tab, allowing them to edit the campaign if they need to.

- A. Confirmation message. Upon creating a new campaign, this message appears.
- B. Helpful links. suggest where they can go from here.
- C. Edit link. Here's a text link (not a button) to edit the campaign. However, at this point they are locked in to an MSO/Campaign type.

3.0 Reports Overview

NOTE: Reporting functionality to be determined.

However, the UX will behave similarly to the Campaign Overview and Create New Campaign pages and fits on the global navigation hierarchy next to Campaigns.

4.2 Tools: Manage Mobile Number

Here we have the result page from a previously entered mobile number (with the ability to enter another number still present).

The initial option is to remove the User from all campaigns using all shortcodes.

Then, the admin can select which particular campaigns to remove the User from, grouped by short code. Each short code grouping has an initial checkbox for removing the User from all campaigns using that particular shortcode.

Once the "Remove Selected" button has been submitted, there should be a "Are you sure" pop-up to be on the safe side. Then, once the results are refreshed, we could even display a menu stating what action was taken, with a last chance to Undo.

Example:

212-555-1234 was removed from:	x
62582
Apple Club (#12267, applexyz123)

...still searching for a good name for this section. At any rate, it can be a place for various kinds of informational articles: system maintenance, best practices, tutorials, case studies, etc.

It might be helpful to use a "weblog-like" format to keep the interface somewhat recognizable. Also, I think it would be smart to break down these "articles" into categories and arranging a few of the most important ones in the right column.

Tags Sidebar. Either using color or text size to determine the tag's "weight." In this case, Α. using color (dark to light connotes more activity to less activity).

6.0 Support

It might be useful to establish a 1,2,3 method for getting help:

- 1. Manual
- 2. Support Topics
- 3. Contact mSnap Support

The word "Support" is a bit more empowering and conducive to this 1,2,3 method than using "Help."

However, I do want to get a better understanding of how you provide support to your users.

- A. Introduce the hierarchy of support.
- B. Make the first line of defense extremely visible with a large button.
- C. I would also consider a contact form rather than an e-mail link. Making them work a little harder by filling out a form could possibly influence them to explore the Support Topics before getting in direct contact with your support staff. Not sure if a mailing address is even necessary.

Note: Also might be helpful to have a glossary of terms.

6.1 Support: Topics

Here is a more simplified "Support Topics" interface. By keeping only the essential top-level information, it makes it easier for a user to scan for what they're looking for. A search function might be useful as well.
